DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims (17-18) are objected to because of the following informalities: the phrase "supply" in claim 17, line 3 is not clear in context. This phrase seems to be missing a complete thought or an interfacing element. The examiner has interpreted as to the supplying of the positional control current to the head driver as recited in claim 15, lines 10-11 for this office action. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim 18 has the similar phrase problem as noted in above and objected for the same reasons as discussed in claim 17 above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims (1-20) are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takaishi.

Regarding claim 11: Takaishi discloses a head positioning control device for a storage device for driving an actuator to position a head at a specified location on a disk and including:

a detection means (see col. 1, lines 50-55 and col. 15, lines 35-44 where Takaishi describes the acquiring of the present or current head position which requires a position detection) for detecting a present position of the head; and a control means (see col. 6, lines 22-57 of Takaishi) that performs coarse control without integral compensation or bias compensation and then performs settling control of the actuator based on the detected position;

wherein the control means performs settling control with integral compensation or bias compensation by estimating the position of the head for the next sample; and estimating the initial bias value from the difference between the detected position and the estimated position (see col. 6, lines 4-64 of Takaishi). The limitations of the claim are considering satisfied because Takaishi discloses a head settling control in a disk drive, which is not based on the long or coarse seeking control functions.

Regarding claim 12: Takaishi teaches that wherein the control means supplies at least at a target trajectory or feed-forward current, that is proportional to the initial position or initial velocity at the start of the settling, to a control system that performs the settling control (in col. 6, lines 33-37 of Takaishi).

Regarding claim 13: Takaishi teaches that wherein the control means performs settling control by observer control (in col. 15, lines 44-65 and col. 19, line 59 to col. 20, line 28 of Takaishi).

Regarding claim 14: Takaishi teaches that wherein the coarse control is velocity (or speed) control of the head in (col. 28, line 46 to col. 29, line 22 of Takaishi).

Regarding claim 15-20: claims (15-20) have limitations similar to those treated in the above rejections, and are met by the references as discussed above. Claim 15 however also recites the following limitations of feedback control system that is met in col. 19, lines 59-65 of Takaishi.

Regarding method claims 1-5: the method claims (1-5) are drawn to the method of using the corresponding apparatus claimed in claims (11-14). Therefore method claims (1-5) correspond to apparatus claims (10-14) and are rejected for the same reasons of anticipation as used above.

Regarding method claims 5-10: method claims (5-10) are drawn to the method of using the corresponding apparatus claimed in claims (15-20) and claims (10-14). Therefore method claims (5-10) correspond to apparatus claims (11-20) and are rejected for the same reasons of anticipation as used above.

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Albert (5150266), Liu (6166876) and Iwahiro (642996) are cited for head position settling control.
